

STATE TROOPS DISPERSE MOB AT RESIDENCE OF GOV. SLATON

Worst of Anti-Frank Rioting Over, Officials Believe, But Reports of Violence Continue to Pour In.

"I Did Right, I'd Do It a Thousand Times Again," Says Executive After Night at Besieged Home.

ATLANTA, June 22.—Georgia's citizen soldiery today is in control of the situation growing out of the commutation of the sentence of Leo M. Frank.

A battalion of the Fifth Regiment, after dispersing all demonstrations in the vicinity of Governor Slaton's home, has been reinforced by another battalion and the governor's horse guards.

The sheriff has control of the situation about the State farm where Frank is confined.

The remainder of the Fifth Regiment is being held in reserve in the armory ready for any service that may be required.

Atlanta officials have taken the most precautions to prevent any further demonstrations in the city.
All of the city police are on duty.
They have been instructed to keep all persons moving and to arrest all intoxicated persons on sight.

VIOLENCE REPORTED.

Although it is believed that the worst of the trouble is over here, reports of violence pour in from various sections of the State. Despite this all beer saloons and clubs here were allowed to be reopened today.

At Newman, effigies of Governor Slaton were burned.

At Marietta, home of Mary Phagan, of whose murder Frank was convicted, and at Woodstock, effigies of the governor were burned.

At Valdosta citizens are subscribing a dollar apiece to a fund for "a monument for little Mary Phagan."

Governor Slaton is a brave man.
But he is shaken by his experience of last night—and is brave enough to admit it. Nevertheless he stands firm; he is glad that he saved Frank from the gallows.

"I did right, I'd do it a thousand times again." These were his words as, after a night of constant terror, the commander of the militia reported to him that there was no more danger for the time being.

Atlanta was calm again today.
Governor Slaton slept most of the forenoon, but announced he would

M'ADOO BABY WILL WEAR LITTLE IDOL

Chinese Charm Presented to Miss Ellen by Returning Presbyterian Missionary.

If the directions are carried out exactly, the parents of Ellen Woodrow McAdoo, the President's second grandchild, will, at 9:15 a. m., on August 29, 1915, have about the baby's neck "Lao Yin." As far as possible Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, the child's father, should imitate a Chinese devout and mumble something that "Lao Yin" might understand. This done, little Ellen, for a period of 100 days, will never be troubled by demons. At the expiration of this and every subsequent 100-day period from the date of the baby's birth, the ceremony should be repeated.
Which goes to show that there is a strong bond of sympathy between the fond mother in China and the mother of the grandchild of a President of the United States. "Lao Yin" is the name of a miniature Chinese idol carved in ivory in honor of the Chinese god that protects babies. Today the Rev. Charles Ernest Scott, of the Presbyterian Mission at Tsing Tau, Kiao Chau, China, called at the White House, and left for Miss Ellen one of these idols. It was given to him by one of the Chinese mothers in the mission town, who, learning that he was returning to the United States, asked that he take the little idol and give it to the President's granddaughter.
Mr. Scott then obtained a second idol, which he has sent to Mr. and Mrs.
Francis Bowes Sayre, parents of the President's other grandchild.

Midshipman Tells How He Played Role Of Jimmy Valentine

Midshipman Charles M. Reagel Admits Escapades to Court of Inquiry—Says His Only Object Was to Find Out Marks or "Catch Smokes." Names Three Comrades.

ANNAPOLIS, June 22.—A story of "Jimmy Valentine," with his dark lantern, pincers and skeleton keys, was told to the court of inquiry investigating the "gouging" scandal at the Naval Academy by Midshipman Charles M. Reagel today.

Reagel himself was the "Valentine," prowling through Academy buildings at night for a period of more than two years, to "rag marks" (finding out the standing of students in advance), or "catching smokes," a practice forbidden by Academy rules.

Midshipman Ralph Mck. Nelson, of the first class and one of the defendants, and Midshipmen Glick and James E. Waddell, he said, were his chief companions.

KNEW PRACTICES OF ALL PROFESSORS.

According to his testimony, Reagel wandered unrestrained around all the Academy departments, and knew the practices of the professors as the last detail. He asserted, however, that he never went near these departments around examination time, because he knew that it would be a serious matter if caught, but he had regularly gone to all of them to get weekly, monthly, semi-annual, and annual marks for himself and others. Reagel admitted having a key which would open some of the doors in the departments, but was not sure where he got it.

Reagel said that he had seen forty or fifty midshipmen in the steam building at one time. He seemed to regard his visits as escapades, and insisted that he had never secured advance information regarding examinations. Neither did he say that Midshipman Nelson, whom he named as having accompanied him three or four times, had ever got such information.

He said that midshipmen had been detected entering buildings to get marks, and had received fifteen or twenty demerits as punishment, so that he didn't think it a very serious offense.

Nelson Mentioned.

Direct testimony connecting Midship-man Nelson with the scandal was given before the court of inquiry today by Midshipman Waddell, who was brought into the case by the testimony yesterday of Ensign Ivan M. Graham, this despite the fact that Waddell alleged Nelson had threatened to "get him" if he testified against him.

Waddell was the first witness, contradicting many of the statements made by Ensign Graham. There were, however, several points on which the witness differed to some degree or absolutely with Ensign Graham. However, he confirmed the statement that he had seen Nelson enter a building without authority and take sheets indicating work which was to be given in the future.

Waddell appeared to take his position

BRANDS PRISONER AS MODERN BLUEBEARD

Crown Prosecutor Opens Trial of Alleged Murderer of Three of Six Wives.

LONDON, June 22.—The famous "Brides Bath" murder case went to trial in Old Bailey today. George Joseph Smith, forty-three, charged with the murder of three of his six wives, each of whom died mysteriously in a bath tub, rose in a crowded court and shrieked his formal plea:
"Not guilty! Not guilty! It's all a lie."

When Justice Scrutton had restored order, Prosecutor Bodkin began his opening statement to the jury.

He branded Smith as the "Bluebeard of modern times" and promised that the Crown's evidence would show conclusively that the prisoner killed each of the three women, found nude and drowned in their baths, for the sole purpose of collecting their life insurance.

Smith, a tall, thin man, with rat-like eyes, fingered his mustache nervously while the prosecutor was making his formal accusation. Several times he started nervously as if to interrupt, but was restrained by his attorneys.

An hour before the case was called, a crowd packed the court room of Old Bailey to hear the details in one of the most gruesome murder cases in the history of England. Women formed the bulk of the crowd. Several artists and photographers appeared, but Justice Scrutton announced that no sketches or photographs would be permitted in court.

Smith took the prisoner's box and shot a contemptuous look at the speculators. He smiled pleasantly at the chief of counsel, Marshall Hall, the leading criminal lawyer of England and a member of parliament. Hall is

Gives Away Gems With Waste Paper

Police Aid Woman in Recovering Thousand Dollars in Diamonds and Money.

Involuntary philanthropy caused Mrs.
Rosa Sheers, wife of a tailor at 1917 Eighteenth street northwest, considerable worry today, when she discovered that in a bundle of waste paper she had given away more than $1,000 in diamonds and money.

"I gave away my diamonds to the Salvation Army," the almost frantic woman told the police of the Eighth precinct.

"Well," mused the desk sergeant, "that's very charitable." Then the officer realized that the charity was a mistake.

Central Office Detectives Warren, Evans, and Burlingame located the Salvation Army wagon in which the waste paper collected from the sheers' home had been placed. When the officers fished out a pocketbook containing two diamond rings, one of five carats and the other a single carat stone, and several $1 bills, Richard Morris, the driver of the wagon, ejaculated, "Gee, I had a valuable load, and didn't know it."

U. S. MARINES AWAIT ORDERS FOR LANDING RESCUE PARTY

Invasion of Yaqui Valley Will Come If Maytorena Fails to Protect American Colony Surrounded By Indians.

Mexicans Threaten to Aid Insurgent Tribe Should Attempt At Landing Be Made.
Conditions More Serious.

Soldiers of Governor Maytorena of Sonora are refusing to attack the Yaqui Indians in any attempt to protect the American colonists in the Yaqui valley.

Information to this effect, reaching the State Department today, not only strengthened the belief that Admiral Howard would have to land the American marines and bluejackets to invade the valley, but caused apprehension that in the event of such a step the soldiers of the Mexican governor might desert to the side of the Indians.

Should this happen, the 1,200 available men in Howard's expedition would have to face a force of at least 7,000 Mexicans and Indians.

DANIELS IS SANGUINE.

In spite of this outlook, Secretary of the Navy Daniels expresses the hope that the protection of the American colonists by the Maytorena forces will make unnecessary a landing of the sailors and bluejackets. Naval officers do not share this optimism.

A dispatch today from Consul Simpich at Nogales, detailed a report by the Maytorena forces that they had from the valley two or three days ago. According to this American 800 Yaquis, 500 of them mounted, had surrounded an American ranch, after laying waste to half the valley.

In the valley were forty soldiers of General Maytorena, who refused to protect the American colonists, saying that they would not fight their "brothers."

The refugees further stated that the American colony is trying desperately to placate the Indians by peaceful means.

Disquieting News.

The Navy Department today received a report from Admiral Howard to the effect that he was in conference with Consul Hostetter at Guaymas concerning the conditions in the valley.

From eastern Mexico Consul Simpich at Vera Cruz reported that Zapatistas, operating around Otmaba, twenty-five miles east of Mexico City, had cut the telegraph lines between the capital and Vera Cruz, thus succeeding in cutting the lines of communication.

Former Democratic Chairman and Indianapolis Mayor Charged With Conspiracy.

Thomas Taggart, Democratic national committeeman and former Democratic national chairman, Mayor Joseph Bell, Chicago, Police Samuel Ferris, and 125 other Indianapolis were indicted today by the Marion county grand jury charged with conspiring to commit forty-eight felonies in connection with the recent county primary, registration and election.

Among the jury will vote again this afternoon, and it is understood the vote will be on other "higher ups" in Indianapolis.

Although the majority of the 128 indicted men are Democrats, several prominent Republicans, notably Robert Metzger, former Republican chief of police, and sheriff of Marion county, are named.

Donn M. Roberts, former mayor of Terre Haute, now in Leavenworth prison for election frauds, is named in the indictment.

chairman, and Jacob Hilkens, building inspector.

U. S. CITIZEN ADMITS HE WAS "DR. MEYER"

Seeking Graft Evidence in Purchase of Army Rifles, He Impersonated German.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The New York Sun today publishes an expose of the story, widely circulated a week ago by the New York Tribune, that Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard, special envoy of the German ambassador, sent to Berlin recently, and Dr. Alfred Meyer, whom the Tribune said posed as a Red Cross agent, but was in reality a "German war munitions buyer," were one and the same man.

According to the Sun, an American citizen, angered by the statement of a German-American friend that he knew attempts were being made to get discarded United States army rifles by graft, himself posed as "Dr. Alfred Meyer," met the woman who was mentioned as an intermediary purchaser of the arms and strove to get graft evidence.

He was unable to obtain any proof that certain individuals could deliver the arms as they hinted. He could not show a $200,000 letter of credit from the German government," so he disappeared.

The Sun withheld the name of the man who posed as "Dr. Meyer," but quoted Dr. Carl Schimmel, mentioned in the Tribune story, as having been associated with Dr. Meyer, as confirmation of the entire narrative.

"Dr. Meyer," produced the hand written copy of the contract made by Mrs.
Lewis. He also produced the copy of the contract between Dr. Schimmel and Mrs. Lewis in which Mrs. Lewis promised Dr. Schimmel $100,000 as his commission for bringing about the introduction between "Dr. Meyer" and herself.

"Dr. Meyer" also had other papers bearing on the negotiations between himself and Mrs. Lewis, all tending to substantiate his story that he is the "Dr. Meyer" who met Mrs. Lewis in different hotel lobbies and tea rooms in this city and in Dr. Schimmel's office.
Fath Dr. Schimmel and "His Excellency, Dr. Meyer," related in detail to two representatives of the Sun the story of their negotiations with Mrs.
Selma and a man known as Captain X, looking to the purchase of the Krag-Jorgensen rifles from the Federal Government. They told how they first became acquainted with Mrs. Lewis, how they were led to pretend to wish to buy the rifles with the aim of getting evidence against certain Government officials, and then Dr. Schimmel told how months later in New York a newspaper came to print the story alleging the single identity of "Dr.
Meyer" and Dr. Meyer-Gerhard.

ALLIES INSIST THAT BULGARIA MOBILIZE

Balkan Nation Has Avoided Direct Answer to Demands of Kaiser's Enemies.

BERLIN (via wireless to Sayville, L.
I.), June 22.—The allies have demanded that Bulgaria immediately mobilize her army and march against Turkey. Bulgaria, according to semi-official advices received here today, has avoided a direct answer, and has requested detailed information as to territorial concessions to be made to other Balkan nations.

Semi-official advices state the allies have offered Serbian Macedonia to Bulgaria with the seaport of Kavalla and the country behind it and Turkish territory within the Midia-Enos line, pledging also that Roumania will intervene.

Bulgaria has asked how much of Serbian Macedonia is to be given her.
Furthermore the Bulgarian diplomats want to know what compensations have been promised Serbia in Albania, Bosnia, and Herzegovina, what territory has been promised Greece to Asia Minor and what Roumania is to gain by participation on the side of the allies. Bulgaria has pointed out that her resources were exhausted in the two bloody Balkan wars and that the guarantee the allies make must be of unquestioned benefit to her before she agrees to participate.

COL. HOUSE WILL ENTERTAIN BRYAN

News comes from New York today that Colonel House, who is about to take a summer residence in New Hampshire, will entertain former Secretary and Mrs. Bryan in July.

Politicians here are keenly interested in the story that Colonel House is to have Colonel and Mrs. Bryan as his guests.
The view here is that leading politicians close to the Administration are going to do their utmost to prevent the withdrawal of Bryan from the Cabinet from developing into a great schism in the Democratic party. Colonel House, as an intimate of the President and a man interested in the welfare of the Democratic party, does not want such a break if he can prevent it. He wants nothing to develop which will tend to hamper the re-election of President Wilson in 1916.

CAPTURE OF GALICIAN CAPITAL EXPECTED IN BERLIN

Fate of France Rests on Outcome of Battle Raging North of Arras, Germany Says.

DEAD COVER BATTLEFIELD

Allies Repulsed in Renewed Dardanelles Offense, Avers Constantinople.

Five Austro-German armies are pouring shells into the last line of Russian defenses at Lemberg and news of the fall of the Galician capital is hourly awaited in Berlin.

The latest dispatches from the Kaiser's battle front announce that the Russians are beaten along the entire line and are fighting only for time to save their artillery and munitions.

On the other front, desperate battles are raging and the allies are driving fiercely to pierce the German lines. Successes that approach the decisive stage are claimed for the French in Alsace and in the Arras region.

That the fate of France hinges on the outcome of the Arras battle is the statement from Berlin, based on Dutch and other neutral reports.

Both sides are fighting with utmost ferocity and with scant regard for the heavy losses. The dead are said to be piled up in heaps on the battlefield at Souchez.

Shells from the great German guns are falling again on Dunkirk, and Paris reports that the enemy has resorted once more to the use of asphyxiating bombs.

Constantinople announces that a combined air, land and sea attack at the Dardanelles has been repulsed with heavy loss to the invaders.

Soldiers Unable to Collect Dead, Bodies Decompose on Field

BERLIN (via wireless to Sayville, N.
Y.), June 22.—The battlefield at Sou-chez is littered with decomposed bodies, according to dispatches received here today from Dutch sources.
Neither army has been able to collect its dead, and the stench is almost unbearable.

The same reports say that the French losses north of Arras have been fearful.
"Neutral reports declare the battle now raging near Arras may decide the fate of France," said the government press bureau today. "Both sides are fighting with unheard of courage and heroism."

Berlin Is Awaiting Word of Lemberg's Capture By Kaiser

BERLIN (via the Hague), June 22.— The war office is awaiting an official announcement that Lemberg has fallen before General Mackensen.
Five Austro-German armies were within ten miles of the Galician capital when the last dispatches were filed at Przemysl. It is possible that the Russians already have withdrawn, and that Mackensen's troops are moving into the city.

The enemy's rear guard was fighting desperately on the ridge west of Lemberg when the last dispatches were sent from the battlefield. Mackensen's center was slowly turning the Russian flanks, while two other Austro-German forces were approaching Lemberg, one from the north and the other through Komarno on the south.
The Russians are reported to have sent a comparatively small force to the west of the city to maintain a stubborn defense, covering the retreat of the main body from Lemberg. "The Russians are defeated all along the line," says an official announcement.
"They are only fighting to gain time and save their artillery and war material."

All along the line southeast of Lem-
